What is the National Museum?.Q: Is it possible to loop NUnit fixture at runtime without code changes? I am writing some simple testing and I want to load all fixture beforehand. Is it possible to do that without code changes? I dont want to add like 10 fixture methods one by one to my suite. It would be nice if I just add one fixture method which can load all necessary fixture at runtime. Is it possible? A: No, it is not possible. If you have a generic placeholder for a sequence of tests, it must be known at test definition. But you can create a base class for tests, which will be loaded as fixture, and then inherit from it, including all the test methods you wish. Q: Reading generic type of Enum from String I have a generic list and wish to get a specific list of that type based on the String that the user 6d1f23a050
